SNOWFLAKE MAZE

How fast can you get through the snowflake mazes?

SPOT THE DIFFERENCE!

There are 10 differences between the two pictures – can you find them, tamariki mā?

MONEY GOALS

Setting money goals is a great way to learn about saving and spending wisely! By deciding what you want to save for, like a new toy or a special treat, you can understand the value of money and how to manage it. You can also set bigger goals, like saving for something important in the future.

When you set and reach your money goals, you learn to be patient and careful with your money. Talking about whānau budgets and how much things cost can also help you understand why it's important to plan and save. This way, you'll be ready to handle your own pūtea as you grow up! Have you heard of SMART goals before, tamariki mā? Using SMART goals helps you focus, stay motivated, and feel proud when you achieve what you set out to do! SMART means:

SPECIFIC

Make sure your goal is clear and detailed. Instead of saying "I want to save money," say "I want to save $10 to buy a new book."

MEASURABLE

Your goal should have a way to track your progress. For example, you can keep a chart of how much money you've saved each week.

ACHIEVABLE

Set a goal that is possible for you to reach. If you get $5 a week for chores, saving $10 in two weeks is achievable.

RELEVANT

Choose a goal that matters to you. If you love reading, saving for a book is a relevant goal.

TIME-BOUND

Set a deadline for your goal. For example, "I want to save $10 in five weeks."

PŪTEA PROJECT

Example: I want to save $10 in five weeks to buy a new book.

Small steps count, tamariki mā!

Composting

DID YOU KNOW?

Worms help break down the scraps faster. They are composting superheroes!

What is Composting?

Composting is a way to turn food scraps and other natural waste into rich soil that helps plants grow. Think of it as recycling, but for food and garden waste. Composting is good because it reduces waste and instead of throwing away food scraps, you turn them into something useful. Compost also helps plants grow as it is full of nutrients that plants need.

1

Start by collecting things like fruit peels, vegetable scraps, eggshells, coffee grounds, leaves, and grass clippings – these are called organic waste. Composting is a great way to see science happen at your own whare – you can watch nature recycle!

2

Put all these scraps into a special bin, bucket, or a pile in your garden. This is your compost pile. Nature will do its job! Tiny creatures like worms and bugs, along with bacteria and fungi, will break down the scraps into compost. Note - this can take a few months.

We shouldn't compost meat, dairy, or oily foods at home because they don't break down well and can attract pests. How does it work?

Once everything is broken down, you'll have dark, crumbly soil called compost. You can use this to help your garden plants grow big and strong.
